

Dean's Message

The Faculty of Dentistry is grateful and appreciate that we have alumni and friends of the Faculty who continue to support us in our academic mission.

Your generous donations towards bursaries and scholarships have supported our students, helping them focus on their studies rather than worrying about finances.

The new Centre for Oral Health (COH) brings with it tremendous potential to advance the future of dentistry in Singapore. We are excited at its development and look forward to its opening in 2019 as a new chapter of dentistry in Singapore unfolds. The support for the COH has been growing steadily and by end of FY 15, we will reach the one million mark.

I thank each and every one of you again for your support to the Faculty.

Impact of your gifts

19 Bursaries, 3 Scholarships and 24 awards & medals were awarded to our dental students in AY15/16.

"I was a recipient of the George Y Soh Scholarship. The award was very helpful in relieving my parents of the burden of my school fees and I was very thankful for that. It was great talking to Dr Soh and understanding his philosophy in setting up this scholarship, and I was very humbled to have been selected as a recipient of this scholarship. I believe that the school is going the right direction in organizing interaction sessions between the donors and recipients. The session allowed me to appreciate the award as something more than just a monetary prize, as well as the opportunity to thank Dr Soh for his kind donation. I believe future students will definitely benefit from and be very grateful for this scholarship!"

An update on the Centre for Oral Health (January 2016)

Our vision for a 24,000 sqm seven-storey integrated Centre for Oral Health, is fast becoming a reality. More than just a physical relocation exercise for the existing dental faculty, clinics and research laboratories, the newly integrated Centre for Oral Health will embrace and harness the spirit of National University Health System's tripartite mission of clinical service, research and education excellence in oral health.

At present, the building project is making good progress in its design definition and development. Piling is underway and the main construction will commence soon. The Centre is scheduled to open in the academic year 2019.
